Irwin stays fire/police secretary

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Linda Irwin has decided to stay on as secretary and member of the Fire and Police Commission after meeting with Mayor Von Dee Cruse Friday.

"She came in and asked if I would forget the letter," Cruse said. "I said, 'Absolutely, what letter?'"

In a letter to the Press-Record-Journal, Irwin said her staying on was a "personal decision" and she is "looking forward to continuing with the board's newly established policies and procedures."

Cruse said he has not yet found a replacement for Commissioner Bruce Groshong, who submitted his resignation effective April 15. Groshong served as president.

"I believe the make-up of the board requires a Republican. I've asked a few people, but have no firm plans," Cruse said. "I'm looking for a person just like Bruce. I'm looking for a person of his character, of his integrity. It must be a person, like Bruce, whose character can't be questioned. I want a person who realizes the responsibility of the job."

Joe Williams, the third member of the board, said last week he has no intention of resigning even though Cruse asked him to do so in April 1987.

"I don't know why Williams wants to continue being part of this administration knowing I don't want him," Cruse said.

WATER IS RELEASED from a fire hydrant at 17th Street and Grand Avenue on Friday by Phil White, Illinois-American Water Co., at a flow rate measured at 2,880 gallons per minute, while Larry Earney, company distribution supervisor, watches. All hydrants in the system in Granite City, Madison and Venice are being opened to flush out rust and sediment in order to give customers the cleanest water possible.

Missing man found dead in parked van

GRANITE CITY — A Granite City man, reported missing Thursday, was found dead Saturday in his van, parked near the 2000 block of Iowa Street.

Leland Leon Brackett, 64, 2301 Gary Ave., was pronounced dead, apparently of natural causes, at the scene at 4:40 p.m. by Deputy Coroner Ed Werner. An autopsy was scheduled to determine the cause of death.

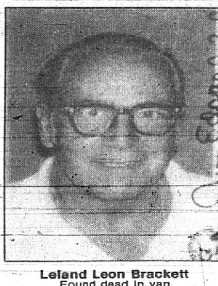

Police were led to the scene by an employee of Gary City Steel who had recognized the van from a description broadcast on television. She said she had also seen the van there the day before.

Police saw Mr. Brackett in the back of the van after looking through the windshield. Upon entering the van, they found no signs of life and called the deputy coroner.

Mr. Brackett's keys and billfold were found in his pockets. All doors but the driver's door were found to be locked.

Animal control debate planned before council

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Final passage of an ordinance creating animal control officer and assistant animal control officer positions will be voted on at the City Council meeting April 19.

The ordinance, proposed by 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney, will be the subject of an open meeting scheduled at 6 p.m. April 19. At that time, Partney said, he plans to propose related ordinances establishing new fee schedules and other specifics of operation of the new department.

The plan is to make a viable, self-supporting department. I think we can make it pay for itself," Partney said.

The city combined the sanitation and animal control departments several years ago in an attempt to make the best use of personnel. City Inspector Ervin DeRousse said. Instead of two two-person departments, it created one four-person department with dual responsibility.

"At the time we hired part-time for spraying in the evenings. Last year, we didn't do that so we had to use one of the four for that," DeRousse said.

"I talked to Emerald Daves and he told me that when he was city inspector there were six guys at the pound and right now we have two part-timers. I can't see how it could hurt to have full-time officers."

The ordinance would give the responsibility for animal control exclusively to the two officers 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Luncheon honors Women of Achievement

From a record 281 nominations, the Suburban Journals and KMOX Radio have selected 10 Women of Achievement for their outstanding contributions to the metropolitan area.

Chosen for their efforts to better the lives of those around them are:

Janice Attala of Belleville, Social Welfare; Sister Joyce Buckler of University City, Special Education; Virginia Cornelius of Huntleigh, Youth Welfare;

Jane Crider of St. Charles, Mental Health; Edna Egan of St. Charles, Rehabilitation; Nicholas Gillis of Ladue, Community Services; Kathy Higley of University City, Humanitarian Concern;

Letty Korn of Ladue, Volunteer Service; Betty Thompson of University City, Social Concern; and Anne Williams of Collinsville, Historic Preservation.

You can read more about this year's Women of Achievement inside today's Journal. Each of them will be honored May 9 at a noon luncheon in the Adam's Mark Hotel.

"We are pleased to again be a part of Women of Achievement," said Norman R. McMullin, president of the Suburban Journals.

"The volume and quality of the nominations received are a clear indication of the great number of community-minded women in our area — from St. Charles to the East Side to St. Louis city and county."

"This year's overwhelming number of nominations goes to show people have a tremendous interest in continuing this great tradition, which was established over 30 years ago (by the Globe-Democrat," added Robert F. Hyland, senior vice president of CBS Radio and general manager of KMOX Radio and KHTR-FM. "We are very happy to join the Suburban Journals in continuing this great program."

Tickets for the luncheon are $12 and may be obtained by sending a check payable to: Suburban Journals, Women of Achievement, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131.

Those attending the luncheon to honor a particular Woman of Achievement should include her name with their request and the names of any other women with whom they wish to be seated. Seating will be at tables of 10.

Hazardous waste train rule violated

By Judy Fahys
St. Louis Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — The Federal Railroad Administration will seek penalties against three companies that allegedly violated hazardous waste transport regulations while shipping Three Mile Island radioactive debris in February.

FRA Administrator John H. Riley said that within a month, FRA will levy penalties against Union Pacific Railroad Co., Consolidated Rail Corp. and Marlin Head Lime Co., a Thornton, Ill., company. The statements came in the release April 5 of an FRA safety investigation that found 10 apparent violations of hazardous waste transportation regulations.

The FRA began its review following a Feb. 9 occurrence in which a car containing lime was added at the East St. Louis railroad yard as a buffer between the Union Pacific head car and cars carrying radioactive waste.

The train crew knew the car contained lime, which is not regulated as a hazardous material, but it failed to change the hazardous material placard labeling its sides.

Riley stressed that the incident did not endanger life, but it was serious because the mislabeling might have caused emergency workers to mishandle the cargo in the event of an accident.

"One thing you can say is that an incident like this won't happen again," said Riley, whose agency also criticized the St. Louis Fire Marshal's office and personnel at the Alton & St. Louis rail yard in East St. Louis for their involvement.

"It has a meaning and an importance that go far beyond the specifics of this incident, because the entire system of emergency response nationwide is built on the reliability of the information that is put on those placards," Riley said.

"Once anybody begins to label their placards in a false, or misleading way, they undercut the entire emergency response system. That's why we have to react the way we have."

Meanwhile, the U.S. Energy Department has promised not to resume the Three Mile Island shipments until the FRA safety improvements are made.

Fourteen shipments of radioactive waste traveled through East St. Louis and St. Louis on their way from the disabled nuclear power reactor in Pennsylvania to an Energy Department laboratory in Idaho before (See WASTE, Page 10A)

Reviews and previews

Hearing expected in AIDS case

A due process hearing will probably take place within a month to determine whether Jason Robertson should be placed in a regular classroom at Prather Elementary School, District 9 officials said last week. Representatives of the district and the ACLU have jointly selected a hearing officer, and the hearing may be set within 25 days. The hearing officer would then make a decision within 10 days.

Novelist to speak at GCC

Novelist Robert Olen Butler, a Granite City native, will discuss his book "Wabash," set in Granite City, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Belleville Area College's Granite City Campus, 4950 Maryville Road. The lecture will be free, and a reception will follow.

Redbird bus service begins

The Madison County Transit District has begun weekend Redbird Express bus service that will serve this area for 39 regular season Cardinal home baseball games plus Memorial Day, it was announced by William Haine, transit district board chairman. Bi-State buses will carry passengers to Busch Stadium on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays from Granite City, Madison and Venice on routes coming from Bethalto.

50 years ago

Thursday, April 14, 1938

Congressman Edwin M. Schaefer, Belleville, conferred in East St. Louis with Illinois and district WPA (Works Progress Administration) directors to seek an extension of the levee district WPA project which ended yesterday, throwing 2,200 men out of work.

Tell it like it is

Q: Do you think television preachers should be required to account for the money they collect?

Ben Gott

"Yes. If every person and organization that operates on public funds was required to publish a yearly report on all money collected and the source, and where all money was spent, they would be more inclined to be honest."

—Leo Avenue

Norma Mize

"No, I don't think preachers should have to account for the money those people give them if they're stupid enough to send it to them."

—Dewey Avenue

J. Martin

"Yes, I do."

—Iowa Street

NEXT WEEK Should state income taxes be raised to support education programs for colleges and local school districts? To record your answer, phone 452-0222 between 5:30 p.m. and 8 a.m. daily. Leave your name, address and phone number for verification.

Quote of the week

"The more they fight this, the more they delay, the more (tax money) people have to pay," said "Jane Doe," a Belleville woman who faced opposition from determined school district officials who did not want an AIDS-infected child in the classroom with other children.

Tip of the hat

Jim Hearon

Literary reward

Several times weekly, Jim Hearon, a librarian at the St. Louis Area Support Center, tells stories to children in the Prather cafeteria before school. This is one of a series of weapons Hearon uses to fight illiteracy. He earned worldwide recognition three years ago for his practice of lowering buckets of books and magazines to Mississippi River bargemen. Hearon is looking for volunteers to tell or read stories to the Prather children.

KENNETH HERZING crawling out of the straw maze at the Animal Fair in Edwardsville.

Marshall students visit fair

The kindergarten class at Marshall Elementary School recently attended the Animal Fair in Edwardsville. The Animal Fair, held on the farm of Keith and Donna Koenig, was sponsored by the Young Farmer's Committee of the Madison County Farm Bureau Association.

At the fair, the children participated in a petting zoo, games, a farm tour, and a coloring contest. Piglets, lambs, rabbits, goats, and a calf were available for petting. On the farm tour children saw sheep, geese, ducks, cows, pigs and a bull. They climbed aboard a tractor and combine to pretend that they were farmers working their fields. The students learned the difference between hay, straw, corn, grass and grains, and they learned that farmers grow these crops to feed their animals.

After crawling through a straw maze, the children enjoyed milk, popcorn, and homemade sugar cookies shaped like cows and pigs.

The field trip was chaperoned by Irma Sanders, Jo Waggoner, Clyde Lee, Dawn Boone, April Guenther and George Brooks.

Committee plans annual walk for charity May 15

A committee from various churches in the community, headed by Charles Herman, event coordinator, met to plan the second annual walk to raise funds for CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program), a part of Church World Service, which works in partnership with Christian agencies around the world and with domestic disaster and poverty-fighting programs in the United States.

Twenty-five percent of the funds raised will be used in Granite City to support Project Help and the Phoenix Crisis Center.

Project Help provides food and clothing for unemployed persons and their families in the community. Phoenix Crisis Center provides counseling and other services to abused women and children.

Last year, Granite City raised

$9,706.

The walk will be held Sunday, May 15, starting at the skating rink at Wilson Park at 1 p.m. The 10-kilometer route (6.2 miles) will be marked with arrows. There will be several rest stops along the way, with cool drinks for the walkers.

Church Women United of the Quad City enlists area church members to help in the program.

The committee is hoping to increase the number of walkers, and sponsors this year to exceed the amount raised last year.

Each walker recruits sponsors who pay a sum of money per kilometer. People wishing to participate should contact one of the participating churches for information and a sponsor sheet.

The next meeting of the committee will be April 21.

ABCs for Parents

By Jane Coosby

Parents can prepare kids for school

By Jane Coosby
Staff affiliate

Going to school is a big step for most kids and parents. While parents may not be able to prepare themselves for the trauma of sending a little one into the world of elementary school, they can spend some time getting their child ready.

If your child will be entering kindergarten next September, spend some time between now and then concentrating on some basic school readiness skills. While it is not essential that your child master these skills before he enters school, they will make his first school days easier.

The most important skills for kindergarteners are dressing and toileting skills. If your child is unable to take care of his personal habits independently, start working on developing skills in this area.

If your child, like most preschoolers, can't tie his shoes, buy school shoes with Velcro closures. When you shop for a school wardrobe this summer, look for clothes that will not pose a problem for your child when he goes to the bathroom.

Your child should know his full name, parents' names, address and phone number. He should be in the habit of cleaning up after himself and keeping track of his own things. Start practicing these habits now after play time or at bedtime.

Academic readiness skills can be taught informally. Don't make your child sit down and study with you. Use the times you go to the grocery store or shopping center as opportunities for learning.

The grocery store is a wonderful place to teach number recognition, sizes, colors, letters and shapes. Discuss the colors of all the fruit and vegetables in the produce section. Canned goods can be categorized by size. Identify letters and numbers on shelves, packages and on signs throughout the store.

When you get home from the store, put the groceries away alphabetically: apples first, bananas second, carrots next and so on.

Give your child lots of opportunities to count objects. Don't be concerned that he learn to count to a certain number. It's only important right now that he learn one-to-one correspondence, which simply means each object gets one count.

Your child will need to be able to handle a pencil and scissors. So provide plenty of opportunities for cutting, drawing and coloring activities.

Let your child cut pictures out of old magazines or newspapers. Make posters with the pictures he cuts out. Talk about the letters each word begins with. But do not expect him to learn all the sounds and letters before school starts.

Coloring inside the lines is not an important readiness skill. Let him color for fun and to develop fine motor control.

Notice how accurate your child is at following verbal directions. If he has a problem with this, play games that will strengthen his skills in this area.

Start with one simple command and as he gets better, introduce two- and three-part commands. Keep it lighthearted and fun. This is not a test of obedience, it is an attempt to increase his auditory attending skills.

Step up your efforts to read to your child every day. Listening to stories and becoming acquainted with books is especially important for children getting ready to start formal reading instruction.

Encourage your child to make up his own stories, and then write them down for him. This helps develop self-expression, vocabulary and imagination.

The World Book Encyclopedia has developed a brochure for parents called, "Getting Ready for School" that outlines 105 desirable readiness skills for kindergarten.

If you would like a free copy, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to: Getting Ready, ABCs for Parents, St. Louis News Service, Suite 108, 1215 Fern Ridge Parkway, St. Louis, Mo. 63114.

State blocks union voting

SPRINGFIELD — A request for union elections this spring for faculty and professional staff at Southern Illinois University was denied March 31 by the state Educational Labor Relations Board.

Petitions seeking collective bargaining for the SIU employees were first filed with the board three years ago. The denial of a request by the Illinois Federation of Teachers (IFT) for an "interim decision" means elections won't be held at least until fall.

ELRB Executive Director Robert Perkovich said the board decided it "would not be appropriate" to allow elections to proceed without a "full decision" on two issues pending before the board since December.

Perkovich said the board indicated it planned to decide this summer so elections could be held in the fall. He argued the board has "thousands of pages" of testimony from hearings in 1985 and 1986 to review.

The SIU administration has appealed a board hearing officer's finding that separate representation elections should be held for the Edwardsville and Carbondale campuses. The administration is seeking systemwide elections covering both.

It also appealed the hearing officer's determination on department chairmen's eligibility to be included in a faculty bargaining unit, if one is approved.

The IFT, which has joined with the American Association of University Professors at SIUE, had asked the ELRB to allow separate campus elections to proceed this spring and to impound the ballots of the chairmen for a later determination of their status.

"We're pretty disgusted with the board," said Ben Schutzhof, a former Granite City teacher and an IFT organizer assigned to SIUE.

"I can't understand how the labor board can put off making a decision on issues they've dealt with before. After three years, it's incredible they still can't make up their minds," Schutzhof said.

He said the ELRB in 1986 set a precedent for separate campus elections and for including chairmen in the bargaining unit when it authorized elections at Northern Illinois University, Illinois State University and Sangamon State University.

Schutzhof also said the 1983 Educational Labor Relations Act specified union elections should be held within 90 days, "but we're here, three years later, still waiting for a decision."

He said the latest delay "further undermines confidence in the board."

Denial blaming the ELRB and SIU administration for delaying elections, Schutzhof also blasted the rival IEA. "The IEA filed an objection to our motion and also, in effect, denied faculty collective bargaining rights for another six months," he said.

"We're not responsible for the delay. We have been urging the labor board to make a decision for elections in the spring also, but we're not willing to sell out the chairmen for a quick election," responded David Vitoff, an IEA organizer assigned to SIUE.

SIUE President Earl Lazerson had little reaction to the ELRB's decision not to order an election this spring. "We'll go on about our business and when they order the elections in the fall we'll have them," he said.

If the elections are held in the fall, it would be the first time the state's two rival teacher unions have vied to represent university faculty in Illinois.

The IEA was on the ballot for the Northern Illinois University election in 1986, but withdrew before the voting.

Both Northern Illinois and Illinois State faculty chose by narrow margins not to be represented by unions, however.

The Sangamon State faculty chose to be represented by an IFT affiliate, although the administration is still contesting the election results in court.

The faculty of the Board of Governors system, which includes Eastern Illinois, Western Illinois, Chicago State and Governor's State universities, voted for IFT representation before the 1983 Educational Labor Relations Act was passed.

No petitions have been filed for union representation of faculty at University of Illinois campuses.

AIDS prevention should begin in schools: doctor

Prevention of AIDS begins with education and changed behavior, according to the president of the Illinois State Medical Society, Edward J. Fesco, M.D.

"It is important that teenagers learn about the risk of AIDS," Dr. Fesco tells students. "If the current high rates of sexual activity and drug abuse continue, teen-agers may find themselves the next wave of AIDS victims."

Dr. Fesco in school appearances explains medical aspects of AIDS, as well as what behaviors put people at risk for catching the AIDS virus. He addresses rumors about the transmission of AIDS, helping the students replace unreasonable or dangerous hearsay with facts.

In the past, teen sexual activity might have been characterized primarily as a moral issue, but "now it must be considered a public health issue as well," Dr. Fesco says.

AIDS no longer can be considered solely a "big city" problem, he says. "Just as AIDS has crept from the East and West coasts into the heartland, teen sex and pregnancy have surged beyond Illinois' urban limits — with impact in every area of our state."

In St. Clair County, 914 teen-agers gave birth, representing 22.5 percent of all births in the state. At least 500 of those births were to girls 14 and younger. And across our country, one-third of all abortions are performed on teen-age girls.

Such statistics concern Illinois

Focus on child care

By Janet R. Burnett
County economics adviser
for Madison County

Somewhere along the time line, family life in America changed. Gone are the days portrayed on sitcoms like "Ozzie and Harriet," when mother was always home and more often than not, father was, too.

Today's reality is quite different. Only 11 percent of American families fall into the stereotypical family model where the husband is the sole wage-earner. Almost 65 percent of mothers with school-age children now work outside the home. Projections show that by 1990, nearly 60 percent of mothers with pre-school children will be in the work force.

The need for quality child care is great. This recognition of a day-care crisis in America will be featured in the PBS television program, "Who Cares for the Children."

Locally, "Who Cares for the Children" will be shown on KETC public television, channel 4, Wednesday, April 13, at 9 p.m. "Cheers" star Rhea Perlman will present the sobering statistics on America's changing family demographics.

Many stations will join with local chapters of the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC) to present other activities revolving around the "Week of the Young Child" during April 10-12. Nationally, two of PBS' most popular children's shows, "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" and "Sesame Street," will air programs in conjunction with the observance.

physicians because they represent a potentially large pool of adolescents who could be exposed through their sexual activity to the AIDS virus.

Dr. Fesco and ISMS believe the solution is early and complete sex education at home and in schools. "Sex education must first foster abstinence, by explaining the consequences of teen sex for Illinois youths. And it must clearly enumerate the medical and health risks associated with sexual activity and drug abuse," he says.

Parents, schools and physicians are said to play critical roles in helping teens understand the risks and come to grips with sexual and other decisions they face. Dr. Fesco encourages teens to assume the responsibility to influence their peers.

Dr. Fesco is a board-certified general surgeon from LaSalle, Ill. The Illinois State Medical Society represents 17,000 physicians statewide.

Social notes

Parents should teach kids to be TV smart

Do you let your child watch television shows that deal with murder, drug-related incidents, hostages, widespread famine, the spread of AIDS, child abuse and other sordid, violent subjects? If he watches the news these are just a few of the questionable topics he confronts.

Television news shows are competing for viewers, so they tend to emphasize the sensational stories and often accompany them with graphic photographs.

The taboos of the broadcast media are being abandoned, so you can't be sure what will be shown under the guise of "news reporting." Tune in to your nightly news and you may see live coverage of starving children, mutilated bodies and, in at least one case, actual footage of a man committing suicide.

This is disturbing enough for adults, but for children who are unable to interpret and interpret information, it can be devastatingly frightening.

Action for Children's Television, a nonprofit group working to improve television programming for children, has published a booklet to help parents handle this powerful area of television programming.

"TV News and Children" points out that the news children see on TV does not help them understand what's happening, where it's happening and why it's happening. The booklet gives suggestions of ways parents can do this themselves.

According to the booklet, censoring or sanitizing the news is not the answer. Knowing what is going on in the world is a good preparation for adulthood. Parents, instead of turning the news off altogether, should teach their children to be "TV-smart."

The authors, Peggy Charren and Carol Hustler, recommend that parents and teachers be available with explanations and reassurances when children ask questions about something they have seen or heard. But, they caution, don't always wait for your child to ask, volunteer relevant interpretations of the news stories he is watching.

The following suggestions taken from "TV News and Children" can help you help your child cope with the news.

• Watch news shows with your child and talk about the way news is delivered on television. Point out any gimmicks the station is using to attract viewers: sensational headlines, teaser chunks of information and particularly lurid or sexual subjects.

• When a news-breaking catastrophe occurs and dominates television scheduling, like the space shuttle disaster, talk to your child about it and help him understand that such tragedies are unlikely to happen to him.

• Help your child take action on subjects that are particularly upsetting to him. This may mean writing letters to the local television station, collecting money for crime victims or drawing a picture to express his feelings.

• Turn off the television if a topic is being handled in a particularly offensive manner. Consider turning to the radio as an alternative news source.

In addition to the suggestions offered by Action for Children's Television, you can investigate a story your child is following. Keep track of a news topic over a period of time. Keep notes on what is happening, use the library to research related topics, chart the area on a map and keep each other updated on new developments.

Television news provides an opportunity for your child to learn about the world; but it is not a tool he should use without guidance.

For information about improving children's television programming, or a copy of "TV News and Children" ($6) write to: Action for Children's Television, 20 University Road, Cambridge, Mass. 02138.

If you have any questions or have a specific topic you would like to see covered in this column, please write to: ABCs For Parents, St. Louis News Service, 1215 Fern Ridge Parkway, Suite 108, St. Louis, Mo. 63141.

Travelers Abroad hear about Australia

Twenty-one members attended the February meeting of Travelers Abroad.

Elna Hoover conducted a brief business meeting and the group agreed to investigate holding monthly dinner meetings at a local restaurant.

Hoover presented the evening's program on her trip to Australia with a teen-aged grandson, as a high school graduation gift. Because of the boy's interest in deep-sea diving, their trip was confined to four areas on the eastern coast of Australia.

After flying Qantas Airlines, they landed in Cairns, a resort town specializing in departures to the Great Barrier Reef. This northeastern area has a climate like Florida and is about the same distance from the equator, in the opposite direction, from Florida. Mrs. Hoover said. The two visited in July, when it was winter time in Australia, but it was pleasantly warm and many "Aussies" were there for their winter vacations, she said.

Tours from Cairns included visits to coral factories, botanical parks and a day trip into the mountains, which included many tunnels, waterfalls, beautiful lush valleys and a rain forest to see different trees, plants, animals and orchids.

The two viewed an unusual curtain fig tree, which had originally started growing in the fork of a leaning tree but had put down roots all the way to the ground and had smothered out the host tree.

While Hoover's grandson made a 1½-day trip to the Great Barrier Reef, where he made several day and night dives, she traveled by bus, which featured a television for showing movies, to Townsville. The highlight in this area involved a 1½-hour ride on a comfortable catamaran out to the Barrier Reef and then a visit to the "Yellow Submarine." The submarine is actually a tug that has a bottom area with glass to allow passengers to look into the reefs, see the many colored fish and the ever-changing coral formations.

While in Townsville, Hoover received birthday flowers, wired from the United States by another grandchild. Taking the flowers on buses and through airports and on planes created problems with inspectors, but Hoover "won" each time since she was carrying Australian flowers. Needless to say, she did not attempt to bring them back to the United States.

Brisbane was the second major stop and featured the site of the 1988 World Exposition. During a local tour, Hoover and the group learned that many of the city's buildings have tin roofs for protection during summer hail storms. At the Lone Pine sanctuary, they saw koalas. A few were eating or walking around, but most of them were asleep in the trees. They also saw kangaroos, or "Roo's" as the Aussies say, and managed to get pictures of their young, called Joey's, jumping in and out of their mothers' pouches.

Sydney, the group's third destination, was a beautiful city, according to Mrs. Hoover, and travelers chose to take a 2½-hour cruise through the harbor area all around Sydney.

On a bus trip into the Blue Mountains, they saw animal preserves and held wombats.

The group then took an exciting ride near Koallom Ra, where they went down at a 50-degree angle into a valley into a dense rain forest. When they stopped, they still were at tree top level, in an area that formerly was a mine.

Melbourne, their last stop, gave them an opportunity to take a trip to Phillips Island, where they viewed a nightly parade of the tiny fairy penguins.

FINALLY a weight management program that you can live with!

While it may not appear to be a big deal...it's our own little family miracle. The last two years I couldn't play catch, walk my dog, even washing my car or climbing the stairs was difficult. You see, I was 103 pounds overweight and my weight problem was literally life threatening. It wasn't just an inconvenience, embarrassing, or tiring anymore, my life literally depended on it.

Having tried every diet plan and numerous weight loss clinics, I was faced with the biggest challenge of my life. Losing weight and winning my life. Being seriously overweight I was at risk with high blood pressure, elevated cholesterol, diabetes and heart disease.

Then I discovered The Optifast Program at Deaconess Hospital. It was only the first step in seriously losing weight and the last plan that I would attempt. The Optifast Program is a plan I can live with.

The Optifast Program is a complete medically supervised weight management program including a team of physicians, nurses and registered dietitians. This plan includes:

- Behavior modification
- Exercise education
- Nutritional counseling
- Long-term patient support!

For the record

AMONG POPULAR decorating trends is the 'marbled' look, which consumers are achieving with faux-finish paint kits and with wallcovering.

Do-it-yourself decorators discover faux finishes

Faux finishes have come a long way since their origination in Egypt and China back around 2400 B.C. Craftsmen then used painstaking precision and skill to give ordinary surfaces (such as wood, ceramics or almost any porous object) the look of slick, polished marble, rare granites or richly grained woods.

Thus, the name faux, meaning "fake" or "false" in French, became the label of these finishes that transform the drab into the deliciously expensive-looking.

These traditional finishes are finally within reach of the non-artist. Manufacturers have refined the once-complicated art of faux finishing, creating kits that include glazes, paints and instruction booklets.

A variety of different looks can be achieved with the kits: With the right colors and glaze, a veined marble look can be attained using a feather and eraser.

A graining tool, when dragged over wet glaze, leaves a realistic wood grain.

Swirled colors can be applied with a sponge to create a mottled marble effect.

Crumpled Saran Wrap, when light and driving under the influence of alcohol. He was released after posting $102 cash bail.

DOE spokesperson Chris Sankey said she could not predict when the agency would complete its review.

"We will review the FRA report, and unless there are any major problems associated with it, we will implement its suggestions and resume our scheduled shipments," she said.

Union Pacific spokesman John Bromley said the company already has started implementing some of the recommendations.

For example, Conrail already has discussed swapping lead and tail cars with Union Pacific in Indianapolis rather than in East St. Louis. The transfer of cars is a normal procedure on the route, and Indianapolis is regarded as better suited for the transfer.

Another plan is that buffer cars — the cars on each end of the radioactive cargo containers — will be linked to the cars carrying the Three Mile Island casks for the entire route from the disabled reactor in Pennsylvania to Idaho, Bromley said. In the case of the February incident, the wrong-label buffer car was added in East St. Louis.

"We recognize the importance of the regulations and what they are there for," Bromley said. "We certainly intend to comply (with the report's recommendations)."

The FRA report also recommended that those involved with the shipments receive training on how to handle radioactive waste.

Kirkwood Mayor Herb Jones said he is grateful for the investigation, and that he hoped the shipments would not resume until the FRA's suggestions are implemented. Residents and officials of communities surrounding

Smith hosts guests

Charlotte Smith, Granite City, entertained relatives from Oklahoma at her home and birthday party was held in her honor at the home of Donna Weuthe (her granddaughter), St. Louis.

Attending the party were: Giles, Norma and Carolyn Smith; Sherrie, Shawn, Shane and Kelly Buckingham, Granite City; Jerry and Ruth Smith, St. Louis; Billy and Jane Smith, West Memphis, Ark.; Matthew Smith, Mary and Lee Gregory, Oklahoma; and Bret and Sara Weuthe, St. Louis.

St. Louis continue to worry about the safety of the shipments because of occurrences like this one, he said.

"I'm distressed that this was ever allowed to happen," he said. "But at least we've gotten some action."

Jones and other area officials met last month with federal transportation and energy officials in Washington to arrange training sessions for local emergency workers.

In fact, the report singles out one area official for failing to deal appropriately with the situation. St. Louis Fire Marshal George Jenkinson was at the yard when the lime car was joined with the Three Mile Island car. When he asked someone at the rail yard what was inside the car, the person said he did not know, and Jenkinson dropped the matter.

"It is important for state, local, federal and carrier officials to establish clearly defined lines of communication on matters relevant to these (hazardous cargo) movements," the FRA report said.

"It is equally essential that parties concerned about any aspect of the movements communicate these concerns immediately both to carrier and to federal authorities."

Rep. Jack Buechner, R-Kirkwood, issued a statement from his Washington office praising the FRA's work.

"This incident pointed up the need for greater training — more complete information — for our local officials who will be called upon in an emergency situation," he said. "It showed, simply, that we're not prepared to handle a real emergency."

Sen. John C. Danforth, R-Mo., declined to comment on the report until his staff had a chance to review it. Danforth has pushed for tougher safety standards in hazardous waste transportation.

Surplus food will be given

Officials in Chouteau, Nameoki, and Venice Townships and the Salvation Army have announced that surplus government commodities will be distributed this month.

Distribution dates are April 14, 20 and 21 at the various sites, officials said.

Commodities will include processed cheese, rice, butter, dry milk, honey, cornmeal and flour. The rice, dry milk, honey, cornmeal and flour are all in short supply and persons will be asked to take their choice of one.

All products will be given out on a first-come, first-served basis by ticket number received at the door.

The Salvation Army, 3007 E. 23rd St., will conduct its distribution of surplus food to Granite City Township residents April 14 starting at 8 a.m.

Venice Township will give out commodities at 7:45 a.m. April 20 at Engelbert Hall, 10th Street and Washington Avenue, Madison Township officials said. Commodities will be given only at the hall and recipients must receive a signed affidavit before receiving the commodities.

Nameoki Township will give out commodities starting at 7:30 a.m. April 21 at the township building, 4250 Illinois 162. Chouteau Township will start its distribution at 8 a.m. April 21 at the Chouteau Township Social Center, 906 Thorngate Drive, Mitchell.

To be eligible to receive commodities, persons must be residents of the township where they are receiving the food. They must be the head of a household or the spouse, have their Social Security number, and sign an affidavit that their total household income is within the guidelines.

Recipients are to bring some proof of residency other than a drivers license or voter registration card. An unpaid utility bill, a property tax statement, a current rent receipt, with the address or a public aid card or medical card is adequate, officials said.

Monthly income guidelines are as follows: one-person family, $573; two in the family, $771; three persons, $969; four persons, $1,167; five persons, $1,365; six persons, $1,563; seven persons, $1,760; eight persons, $1,958; and $18 for each additional member of the household.

Officials said money should not be given to children younger than 18 months of age.

There is no discrimination against groups of any kind in the food distribution program.

Diesel fuel tax angers farmers

By Joyce Hackel
P-RJ Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — America's farmers, already confronting the prospect of paying a tax they claim they do not owe, have faced off against an opponent that did not show up.

The Internal Revenue Service, which is trying to make some money to help reduce the federal deficit, has asked farmers to pay a 15-cent per gallon federal tax on diesel fuel that is used to power farm equipment, and then receive a 100 percent refund or tax credit.

As might be expected, farmers are not too happy about that federal strategy, and have pleaded with Congress for help. A hearing this month before the House Small Business subcommittee on energy and agriculture was designed to help air those grievances and impress upon the IRS the serious nature of the problem. But the IRS stayed home.

The government's tax collector has insisted that its system is reasonable.

The new provisions were promoted by the Treasury Department to prevent abuses of the diesel fuel tax exemptions that are called skimming. In skimming operations allegedly conducted by organized crime, hundreds of millions of gallons of diesel fuel were bought without an excise tax, and were resold to individuals who should have bought fuel at a taxed rate.

Under new federal procedures, the tax is collected at the wholesale instead of the retail level, an effort that makes skimming easier to monitor, the IRS said.

The farmers were backed by Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, and a number of lawmakers who denounced the tax.

Rep. Jim Jontz, D-Ind., testified that the IRS should devise a more effective system to reduce skimming without penalizing all farmers. "We're told that the reason behind this new collection system is to reduce tax fraud," Jontz said. "Yet, the individual who is cheating on his taxes now will not think twice about filing a false report under this new provision."

Gramm, who has sponsored his own bill to repeal the tax collection procedure, told the committee he expects the Senate to quickly repeal the new provisions.

"The goal of collecting the tax in a more efficient way is not a bad goal," Gramm said. "Congress just dropped the ball." Also complaining about the new tax were the American Farm Bureau, the Petroleum Marketers Association of America and the Associated General Contractors of America.

Congress set up the new tax procedures in the catch-all spending bill passed just days before Christmas 1987. Set to go into effect on April 1, the provision moved the collection point for the 15.1 cents per gallon federal diesel fuel excise tax from the retail to the wholesale level. Diesel fuel oil that is sold for heating of homes is exempt from the tax.

The pressure is widespread. Lawmakers already have introduced six House bills and five Senate bills to repeal the provisions.

If Congress fails to act, farmers soon will have to file for quarterly refunds if their diesel taxes exceed $1,000, or they can apply for a rebate when and if they file their taxes.

Johann Hunter, an IRS spokeswoman, said the government would reimburse farmers, "based on any kind of organized system of records," including credit cards or other receipts, that demonstrate the amount of money farmers spend on diesel fuel for off-road use.

William Marvel, the Indiana Farm Bureau's legislative director, said farmers across the state are engaged in an all-out effort to stop the new tax. Marvel said his group petitioned the Treasury Department and the IRS to delay implementation of the tax collection.

More buses to link Madison County, St. Louis next week

The Madison County Transit District, Bi-State Development Agency and Illinois Department of Transportation have been working together to close the gap in the past year preparing for the traffic impact of closure of the Martin Luther King Jr. Bridge for repairs. The closing is set for Friday.

William Haine, chairman of the Madison County Transit District board, said this week that on April 18, a new Bi-State express route and three new park-ride lots will begin operation to St. Louis from the Highland, Troy and St. Jacob areas to provide commuter service for portions of Madison County that have not previously been served.

Also, two Bi-State local and seven express routes to St. Louis that are already established will have new routes and/or schedule changes because of the expected traffic congestion.

The Madison County Transit District will act as a clearing-house for commuters' transportation requests. Callers to 1-800-VIP-RIDE can receive bus information or be assisted in forming vanpools or carpools, Haine said.

Work begins April 15 to replace the deck of the King Bridge, bringing it up to Interstate highway standards, and drivers of 13,500 daily vehicles that now use the free King Bridge will be forced to find other ways across the Mississippi River during the 14-month closure.

When the King Bridge reopens in June 1989, a three-year renovation will immediately begin on Illinois approaches to the Poplar Street Bridge, which already carries 110,000 vehicles a day. Interstates 55, 70 and 64 use the Poplar Street Bridge.

For a total of 49 months beginning April 15, 1988, rush hour traffic between Illinois and Missouri will be "extremely congested," Dale Klorer, District 8 engineer for IDOT, said.

He predicted that if no arrangements had been made to reduce the number of vehicles trying to cross the river during this period, drivers inbound to St. Louis from Illinois during the weekday morning rush hour would add from one hour to one and a half hours in traffic, and coming home in the evening would add up to 30 minutes over the time they now spend.

An important part of reducing the number of vehicles is greater use of mass transit, vanpools and carpools, Haine said. To make it easier for passengers to use the bus, the Madison County Transit District has increased the number of park-ride locations serving bus routes.

Passengers can drive to a free park-ride lot, or be dropped off there, and ride by express bus to St. Louis.

Madison County currently operates a vanpool program which is available to residents and employers of Madison and St. Clair counties as well as other areas in southwestern Illinois. Assistance will be available in forming vanpools and carpools.

On April 18, a new Bi-State Express route called the 552X Highland-Troy Express will begin operation, linking Highland and Troy with downtown St. Louis.

Two morning trips inbound to St. Louis will start in Highland at the Knights of Columbus Park-Ride lot, then via Walnut, Hwy. 40, Poplar in Highland, by the new Poplar Junction Park-Ride lot, Broadway, Hwy. 40 westbound, past Douglas near St. Jacob and the new Troy Park-Ride lot at Main and Hwy. 40 in Troy, enter I-70 westbound, exit at Hwy. 203 south, then via Collinsville Road, 9th Street in East St. Louis, Broadway, across the Eads Bridge onto Washington in St. Louis, south on 8th, and west on Market to the end of the line at Tucker.

Afternoon outbound trips will operate the reverse of the above except that 9th Street will be used instead of 8th Street in downtown St. Louis and 10th Street will be used instead of 9th Street in East St. Louis.

Fares charged on this new route will be higher than those charged elsewhere in Madison County. Since portions of the route begin outside of the Madison County Transit District, no transportation sales tax funds are available from those areas to help defray expenses. Also, this is a longer route than any others operated in Madison County.

Fares will be $1.75 for adults, 90 cents for children ages 5-12, and 50 cents for elderly or handicapped. Additional cash fares with passes are: 75 cents with a gold pass, commuter ticket or weekly pass; $1 with a red pass; $1.25 with a green pass; and 30 cents with a student pass.

This new route will make all stops at the downtown area including stops near Edison Brothers, St. Louis Centre, the Old Post Office, Mercantile Bank, Center Plaza, One Bell Center and St. Louis City Hall.

Schedule changes will be made in a number of existing Bi-State routes to allow longer running time due to expected traffic congestion.

As a general rule, morning trips destined for St. Louis during the rush hour will leave 10 minutes earlier than now. This may be adjusted once the actual delay time is determined. At non-rush hour times, departure times will remain as they are now.

Afternoon rush hour trips out of St. Louis will leave at the same times as now.

Most routes will be in the East St. Louis area. Buses coming into St. Louis from Madison County via I-55-70 during rush hours will exit at Hwy. 203 southbound and then follow Collinsville Road, 9th Street, Broadway and cross the Eads Bridge.

Three existing routes, the 503X Edwardsville Express via Glen Carbon, the 553X Edwardsville Express via Maryville, and the 564X Collinsville Express will be extended further into downtown St. Louis, ending the routes at Market and Tucker.

Also, the 503X will have one additional morning trip and one afternoon trip added to provide better passenger comfort. The 554X will add one extra afternoon trip for the same reason.

The 513 Alton St. Louis route will travel to St. Louis via the McKinley Bridge in Venice starting April 18. This change will help avoid delays and will reduce travel time between Alton and St. Louis by about 10 minutes.

The remaining Madison County routes that have reroutes and/or schedule changes are:

Express —
514X Bethalto Express.
515X Godfrey Express.
516X Alton Express.
530X Pontoon Express.

Rhine showcases heart of Europe

By Deborah Reinhardt
Staff affiliate

At times the Rhine River can soothe a soul like a lullaby. This historic, international river begins at the Swiss Alps and flows through Germany, France and Holland before it empties into the North Sea. For the traveler who wants an unhurried tour of the heart of Europe, a cruise on KD German Rhine Line could be the choice vacation.

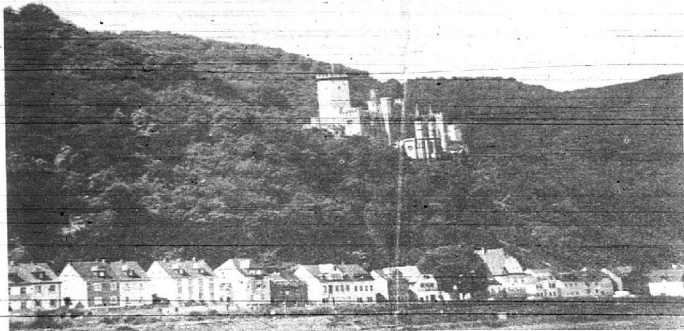

There are other lines that offer Rhine cruises, but KD is the oldest (and biggest) company. The line has been in business for 161 years and operates 12 vessels. Eight ships have overnight accommodations, and there is a hydrofoil for brief, intense explorations along the river.

The best part about the KD line is flexibility of itineraries. Although it offers three, four- and five-country cruises of three or more days, there are shorter cruises within Germany on the Rhine and Moselle Rivers.

During a one-week tour of Germany last August, I enjoyed a half-day trip from Koblenz to Rhenish. It was an unusual way to see the wine regions, such as Rheinhessen and Middle Rhine. We stopped in Wiesbaden, Bingen, Rudesheim, Assmannshausen, Oberwesel, Bacharach and Koblenz, an ancient town at the mouth of the Rhine and Moselle rivers.

Passengers had the option of getting off the ship to explore the wine villages and stay overnight in a hotel, then catching another ship to the next village. Each village is worth exploring. Wiesbaden, the capital of Hesse, lies at the foot of the Taunus hills. The main attractions are hot springs, which were used by Romans. The spa district is at the end of the main street, Wilhelmstrasse.

Bingen was established as a Roman port. Today, wine production and trade play a major part in the old town's economy. There are interesting churches (St. Martin) and castles. Rudesheim stretches along the right bank of the Rhine. The small town has developed into one of the busiest tourist centers on the middle Rhine. There is a bevy of friendly restaurants and wine taverns, a Drosselgasse. There also are castles, a wine museum, churches, a convent and hiking paths. It is worth an overnight and next day explorations.

From Schloss Niederwald, an old hunting lodge, another wine village of Assmannshausen can be reached by foot or chair lift. Assmannshausen, known for its red wines, is incorporated into Rudesheim and also has hot springs.

Oberwesel with its 4,500 inhabitants, is a small, charming wine village on the left bank of the Rhine. The church of Our Lady dominates Oberwesel's panorama. The church is deceptively plain from its exterior but the interior is rich with works of art from the 14th century.

Bacharach is a picturesque town that has been a center of Rheingau wine trade. The town's preserved walls and towers are unsurpassed in the Middle Rhine. Stahleck castle is perched on a rock overlooking the river. It was partially destroyed in 1689 by the French but a youth hostel was installed in the ruins.

Koblenz has a history dating from the ninth century. The fortress of Ehrenbreitstein is on the right bank of the Rhine at the Mosel River. It is a charming city of 14,000 and is worth a visit. Stop by the Electoral Palace, St. Kastor's Church, the German Corner for a fine view of the Rhine, and Church of Our Lady.

While each port along the Rhine has charming ambience, fine food and drink, and interesting historic sights, part of the Rhine adventure is getting to the towns. And cruising on one of KD's ships is an enjoyable way to travel.

Our ship was extremely clean. Food in the dining room was above average, though not gourmet. There was a souvenir shop on board that sold tour books along with other items. The book was a good investment because detailed information on the towns and points of interest along the river were explained. Ports were announced over a public address system.

Hints for travel on a one-day river excursion: give servers in the dining room a tip of 10 percent of the tab; travelers checks and German marks were accepted on board. No credit cards were taken. Take some change into the restrooms for attendants. The best vantage point for photographs was the top deck, although shutter bugs should bring a sweater or jacket because it is cool and windy at that location.

Cruises operate from April to mid-October. In its first season price variation, KD line has reduced the fares of all cruises operating in April. For example, the three-day, two-night cruises from Cologne to Frankfurt begin at $222. A three-day cruise on the Moselle River from Koblenz to Trier on April 29 begins at $210.

After April the fare for a cruise from Cologne to Frankfurt will cost between $310 and $345. A one-day cruise fare within Germany begins at $5. People who want the short trips buy tickets at their city's dock — advance reservations are not necessary.

For more information, contact Rhine Cruise Agency, suite 317, 170 Hamilton Ave., White Plains, N.Y. 10601. The telephone number is (914) 948-3600.

Mainz: better with age

By Deborah Reinhardt

It is easy to immediately love Mainz. The city is large enough to facilitate progress, and small enough to be friendly.

The capital of Rhineland-Palatinate, Federal Republic of Germany, Mainz is situated on the left bank of the Rhine River. Romans established a fort near today's Mainz in 38 B.C. and ancient ruins are buried under the city.

In the eighth century, Mainz became the center of Christianity in Germany when St. Boniface founded the archbishopric.

Mainz, also is the city of Gutenberg. The man who invented movable type is honored with a museum and the church in which Gutenberg was baptized is easily viewed.

Mainz, however, does not rest on past greatness. Like the wine produced in the area, Mainz improves with time.

This progressive attitude undoubtedly comes from a massive rebuilding after World War II, which destroyed 70 percent of the city. Renovation of the medieval Old City with its half-timbered houses, began just five years ago; consequently, these charming, "historic" buildings are not as old as modern structures.

Mainz is a stronghold of the Rhineland Carnival. A fountain built in 1967 is a tribute to the great party. But there always is a festive aura surrounding this cheerful city.

Visitors can make friends in one of many wine taverns or cafes in Mainz, the center of Rhine wine trade. Tours of champagne cellars are also available.

If spirits leave you flat, you can enjoy a cup of coffee and sinfully rich cake at the Dom Cafe in the main square near St. Martin's Cathedral.

Built in 975, the cathedral was destroyed and rebuilt seven times. That explains its mix of architectural styles. It is a beautiful anchor to the city's main square, which is an ideal place to watch people. Mainz respects the revered structure, no building can be higher than the cathedral's nave.

Another church, St. Stephen's, sits on a hill above the cathedral. Visitors come to St. Stephen's to see six exquisite stained glass windows by artist Marc Chagall.

The original church was built in the 10th century but was reconstructed in the late 13th to early 14th centuries. This Gothic-style church was heavily damaged in World War II. When it was restored, Chagall was asked to create the windows, which illustrated God's message of peace. The project also became a symbol of Franco-German rapprochement and international understanding between Jewish and Christian communities.

Visitors can view the beautiful church from 2 to 3 p.m. daily.

Other cultural offerings include five museums, an artists' center and a municipal theater.

Visitors have a choice of comfortable hotels in Mainz, including the Hotel Hammer, which has plain but quiet, functional rooms. There is a sauna, fitness room, lounge and restaurant. The best part of Hotel Hammer is its location at 6 Buhmshofplatz, a 5-minute walk from the old quarter. It is 15 minutes by car to the dock where Rhine cruise ships come into port.

Mainz is an interesting, charming city where you can enter as a stranger and leave as a friend. It can be reached by car or train. The Frankfurt airport is 25 minutes from Mainz. KD German Rhine Line also stops.

For more information, contact a travel agent or the German National Tourist Office, 747 Third Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017.

Americans will vacation in '88 despite unstable market, dollar

Despite an unsettled stock market and the dollar's decline against foreign currencies, it appears that Americans will find a way to take a vacation this year.

An American Express telephone poll conducted over the winter discovered most Americans would spend discretionary dollars on a vacation. Experts say when the dollar loses value against foreign currencies, more Americans tend to vacation at home. But other experts say travelers who want to visit Europe economically can do so by purchasing a vacation package that includes meals and lodging.

The experts suggest that consumers consider eastern European countries, where the dollar has a better value than in western Europe. Tour operators nationally cite a growth in popularity of cruises for groups. Presley Tours of Illinois recently announced a cruise package that combines the Caribbean cruise with a two-day coach drive to Tampa, Fla. And Circle America has a "rail/sail" program with Bermuda Star lines and will initiate service this fall with Costa Cruises.

When it comes to vacationing, no one can match the "Fun Ship" of Carnival Cruise Lines. Nobody even comes close. A "Fun Ship" cruise offers so much for so many people, it's no wonder that we're The Most Popular Cruise Line in the World!

Women of Achievement

10 Honored For Dedication To Community Betterment

The Suburban Journals and KMOX Radio are proud to announce the selection of 10 Women of Achievement from the Greater St. Louis area who have made extraordinary contributions to the community.

These women, who will be honored May 9 at a noon luncheon at the Adam's Mark Hotel, join 321 other women who have been selected as Women of Achievement in previous years for their dedication to improving the quality of life around them.

The 1987 Women of Achievement and their categories are:

Janice Attala, Social Welfare

The health of children and victims of domestic violence concerns Jan Attala, who teaches nursing at Southern Illinois University in Edwardsville. The health-care program she developed for abused women at the Women's Crisis Center in Belleville, where she lives, has drawn national attention. She serves on the board of the St. Clair County Health Department, which helps provide public health services for 138,000 persons.

Attala is active on the Community Health Committee of the St. Clair County Medical Society Auxiliary and is instrumental in several outreach ministries at the Signal Hill United Methodist Church.

Sister Joyce Buckler, Special Education

For the past 30 years, Sister Joyce has helped deaf children speak—as a teacher, administrator and now principal of St. Joseph Institute for the Deaf in University City. But her reputation as an expert in oral education for the deaf has gone far beyond the St. Louis area.

She has worked with teachers of the deaf and deaf students around the world, lending both her voice and her professional expertise to her philosophy that "every person has the right to speak."

But more than her professional expertise, it is her ability to "touch people's hearts and change the direction of their lives" that is the cornerstone of her remarkable career.

Virginia Cornelius, Youth Welfare

As chairman of the board of the Emergency Children's Home (ECHO), Ginger Cornelius' love of children has been translated into helping young people who have been abused and neglected and now must rebuild their lives mentally and emotionally.

In addition, Cornelius, who lives in Huntleigh, has been active in efforts to unite local children's welfare organizations and serves as an advocate for these children on the state level, working with the governor and the Legislature to ensure that there are enough funds available to keep shelters such as ECHO open throughout the state.

Jane Crider, Mental Health

Jane Crider has been a driving force in establishing St. Charles County's services for the retarded and mentally ill.

She began working in the mental health area when the lack of services for her retarded son and others like him became apparent. Through her efforts, the St. Charles County Association for Retarded Citizens (SCARC), which provides services for infants and preschool-age children, was born.

She was instrumental in establishing the Boonlick State School in O'Fallon, Mo., the Boone Center Sheltered Workshop and Four County Mental Health Services Inc., serving 4,000 people per year.

Edna Freeman, Rehabilitation

As a vocational counselor for the Missouri Division of Employment Security, Edna Freeman of St. Charles has been in a position to detect changes that are needed in the community.

Freeman, who has been totally blind since the age of 20, was instrumental in bringing Metropolitan Employment and Vocational Rehabilitation Services to St. Charles and has initiated the first step in a plan to bring public transportation to the area.

She has also served as a member of the St. Charles Community Housing Resource Board, the president and vice president of the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped and is on the board of the St. Charles Community College.

Nichola Gillis, Community Service

As an active volunteer in a wide variety of organizations ranging from the Salvation Army and the United Way to the Junior League of St. Louis and the Arts and Education Council, Nicki Gillis of Ladue has become an expert in uniting various sectors of the community to accomplish major goals.

A long interested in children's welfare issues, she is currently chairman of the advisory board of the Salvation Army's Hope Center, which provides residential care for children from birth to 7 years of age who are severely emotionally disturbed due to abuse and neglect.

Kathy Higley, Humanitarian Concern

The volunteer director of the St. Louis Chapter of the Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Association (ADRD) and a member of Missouri Task Force on Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders, Kathy Higley of University City resigned from a full-time teaching position to devote her energies to assisting the victims of Alzheimer's Disease and their families.

Under her guidance, the St. Louis Chapter, which in 1980 had only 10 members, has grown to a multifaceted community agency that now reaches an estimated 33,000 affected families in St. Louis and eastern Missouri and is the fastest-growing nonprofit organization in the nation.

Letty Korn, Volunteer Service

Letty Korn works between 30 and 40 hours per week—as a volunteer.

She is in the second year of her term as president of the mammoth Jewish Hospital Auxiliary, which has more than 3,000 members and is the largest organization of its kind in the state.

In addition, Korn, of Ladue, has served as president of the Brandeis University Woman's Committee and the Lucky Lane Nursery School, and has been on the board of the Jewish Federation Women's Division, Temple Emanuel, and on the steering committee for the Repertory Theater Antiques Show.

For the past eight years, Korn has donated her time to others while fighting cancer herself and has become a role model for those fighting the disease.

Betty Thompson, Social Concern

Betty Thompson devotes her energies to fighting poverty.

She is an area coordinator for the Human Development Corp. and in her hours away from work has hosted What's Happening Now, an educational radio program on station KIRL, recently finished a term as president of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. St. Louis Support Group, and last year began the Dr. Martin Luther King Student Awareness Day.

She serves as a councilwoman in University City and is a former national president of Women in Municipal Government (National League of Cities).

Anne Lew Williams, Historic Preservation

Known as "First Lady of the Mounds," 97-year-old Anne Lew Williams' tireless dedication to the preservation of the Cahokia Mounds began in 1923 with her efforts to transform the privately owned mounds into a state park.

It culminated last year when ground was broken for the $8 million Cahokia Mounds Museum on the grounds of what now has been named a World Historic site.

Williams, of Collinsville, also has served the Red Cross, the Collinsville Public Library, Collinsville youth and the Presbyterian Church.

Reservations for the May 9 Women of Achievement luncheon at the Adam's Mark Hotel may be made by sending a check for $12 to Women of Achievement, Suburban Journals, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131. Checks should be made payable to the Suburban Journals.

Those attending the luncheon to honor a particular Woman of Achievement should include the name of that woman on their ticket requests. Seating will be at tables of 10. Persons wishing to be seated together should list the names of those requesting to be at that table with their check.

The deadline for tickets is April 29.

TRY THE CLASSIFIEDS!

How to keep hot and cold in their proper places (and cut your energy bill)

Heat is attracted to coolness, so do things to your home that keep them apart—all year long.

Build a wall of insulation:

Insulate the attic for sure, walls if possible; remember, you can even "insulate" windows with special coverings, thermal drapes, and awnings. Storm windows and doors are a big help, too.

Caulk & Weatherstrip:

Those little spaces around doors and windows are among the worst temperature "leakers" in your home. Buy quality materials to plug those leaks and do a thorough job.

Isolate little-used rooms:

Why waste money heating or cooling when nobody will notice if you don't? Close doors and registers in unoccupied rooms.

Buy efficiency:

Make sure you get high efficiency in your heating and cooling equipment (you can't beat the electric heat pump—and it does both!).

Maintain efficiency:

Make sure heating and cooling equipment is in good running order with annual inspections—change filters regularly.

WE COULDN'T MAKE IT EASY FOR HIM TO REACH THE FINISH LINE. JUST THE STARTING LINE.

It isn't easy for many Special Olympians to run 100 yards. Much less fly 1,000 miles.

They have the spirit, the dedication, and the will needed for running. But flying takes something mentally retarded people may be short of. Money.

That's why some 130 companies donated their Cessna Citation jets and pilots for the Citation 1987 Special Olympics Airlift.

The airlift, organized by our Cessna Aircraft Company, flew more than 900

Special Olympians and their coaches, from 12 states to South Bend, Indiana, to compete in the Seventh International Summer Games. The Special Olympians competed there for a full week.

Then the airlift fleet of Citations returned to pick them up and fly them home.

A Cessna Citation jet takes off on a business mission every minute of every day. That's testimony to the quality of our jets.

But 130 companies decided to set aside business missions in favor of one that is more important. Special Olympics.

And we think that's testimony to the quality of our customers.

Tugboat shrine full of river lore

By Pamela Seibert

A relative newcomer to the St. Louis waterfront is a striking sight. The M/V (motorized vessel) City of St. Louis Towboat Museum is painted a gleaming white "to conform with riverfront standards," said general manager Kathy Boeckman.

The towboat is one of the largest of its kind to ply inland waterways. "She's still operational," Boeckman said. "But the owners (Eagle Marine Industries) have chosen to display her for having played an important part in the barge industry, which is the most economical form of transportation of the country's freight."

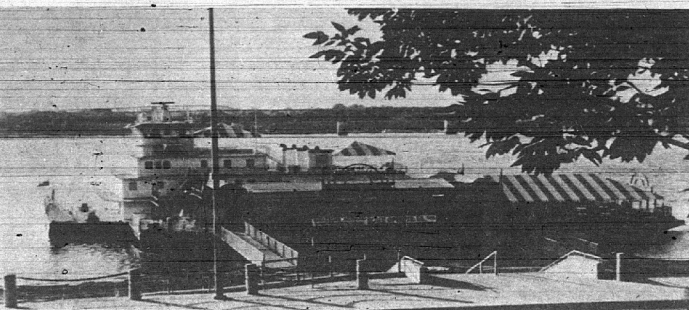

Built in 1964 by St. Louis Ship, the towboat is 182 feet long, 55 feet wide and 49 feet tall. Its three enormous Cooper-Bessemer diesel engines were capable of generating 3,000 horsepower and the towboat could maneuver up to 30 loaded barges or 40 unloaded barges. "The towboat neither tows nor tugs, but rather it guides and pushes the barges," Boeckman said.

More cargo can be transported on barges than on any other type of vehicle or vessel except for some of the very largest ocean tankers, she said. One barge can carry the equivalent of that carried by 30, 60-ton railroad cars, she said.

The City of St. Louis, which worked the river under the name "John H. McMillan," the name was changed when the boat was put on display, was designed to do an enormous job in the days when diesel fuel was cheap, Boeckman said.

As prices rose, operating the boat became prohibitively expensive. In 1984, when one of the engines suffered a cracked block that would cost $750,000, half the original building cost of the entire vessel, to repair, it was decided to retire the boat from service.

After 20 years of moving barges on the Mississippi between St. Louis and New Orleans, the City of St. Louis became a museum. It was remodeled, but the galley, crew's quarters and engine room were left as they might have been during its operational days. It was opened to the public July 4, 1985.

M/V CITY OF ST. LOUIS Towboat Museum was once a working towboat. It is now open free to tourists on the riverfront.

In the engine room, the damaged diesel engine has been broken down so the visitor can clearly see how it works. On the second deck, the visitor sees the 1980s vintage quarters of the 19-man crew. On the third deck, the guest quarters for company officials are displayed.

Also shown on third deck are several large models of other towboats, such as the M/V United States, built in 1958; the M/V American Beauty, from 1968; and the M/V Missouri, dating from 1956. In this area is a large replica of a series of loaded barges, numerous photos depicting towboats on U.S. waterways, and plaques bearing appropriate quotes. For instance: "Your true pilot cares nothing about anything on earth but the river, and his pride in his occupation surpasses the pride of kings." — "Life on the Mississippi," by Mark Twain.

BRIGHTEN THE DAY for any chicken, fish or pork entree with colorful Sweet Pepper Risotto.

Streamlined risottos display northern Italy's flavor flair

Risotto is a dish of the moment. A menu mainstay in northern Italy, this creamy rice dish is getting equal time in restaurants and at home, where it is served as a first course or as a flavorful side dish.

Classic risotto can require tedious preparation of hard-to-find imported rice. Classic risottos are creamy, yet each rice grain retains its firmness, with as many as a dozen individual additions.

For a modern easy taste of northern Italy, try Sweet Pepper Risotto. Traditional Italian ingredients—olive oil, onion, garlic, oregano and parmesan cheese—are combined with easy-to-make rice and brightened with fresh red, green and yellow bell pepper strips. This colorful risotto provides a perfect accompaniment for chicken, fish or pork.

When beef, veal or lamb head the menu, showcase their special flavors with Zesty Tomato Risotto. This lively mix of rice, onion, garlic, basil and tomatoes is a flavorful reflection of the diversity of northern Italian cuisine.

Sweet pepper risotto

- 1 can (14 oz.) chicken broth
- 3 tsp. olive or vegetable oil
- 1 cup uncooked rice
- 1 cup coarsely chopped onion
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/2 tsp. oregano
- 1/2 cup chopped bell peppers (any combination of red, green and yellow)
- 1/2 cup parmesan cheese

Add water to broth to make 2 1/2 cups liquid. Heat oil in large saucepan. Add rice, onion and garlic. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, 3 to 4 minutes.

Add liquid and oregano. Bring to boil. Reduce heat. Cover tightly. Simmer 20 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in bell peppers. Let stand, covered, until all liquid is absorbed, about 5 minutes. Sprinkle with black pepper and cheese to taste. Makes 6 servings.

Zesty tomato risotto

- 2 tsp. olive or vegetable oil
- 1 cup uncooked rice
- 1 cup coarsely chopped onion
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/2 tsp. basil
- 2 medium tomatoes, chopped
- 1/2 cup parmesan cheese

Add water to broth to make 2 1/2 cups liquid. Heat oil in large saucepan. Add rice, onion and garlic. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, 3 to 4 minutes.

Add liquid and basil. Bring to boil. Reduce heat. Cover tightly. Simmer 20 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in tomatoes. Let stand, covered, until all liquid is absorbed, about 5 minutes. Sprinkle with pepper and cheese to taste. Makes 6 servings.

Roasted turkey breast with clemi mustard glaze

- 3 to 4 lb. rolled boneless turkey breast
- 3 tsp. honey
- 1/2 tsp. Dijon mustard
- 1/2 tsp. coarsely grated clementine rind
- 1/2 cup clementine juice
- 1/2 cup white wine
- 1/2 cup chicken stock

Add remaining clementine juice and chicken stock to make 1 1/2 cups, adding more juice if necessary. In saucepan, heat sauce until boiling. Combine butter with flour to form paste. Whisk into sauce. # Children can learn healthy eating habits

By Jacqueline Lanfear
Bismarck Herald-Banner
American Heart Association

Whether children should follow a low-fat diet is a controversial question with no simple answer. It continues to prompt a need for more research.

Heart disease is the major cause of death in the United States. Although most symptoms of clogged arteries seldom surface before adulthood, studies indicate that the plaque build-up often begins in early childhood. Autopsies of young soldiers killed during the Korean and Vietnam Wars provided evidence of early plaque development within arteries. Population studies indicate that an estimated 5 percent of Americans between the ages of 5 and 14 have blood cholesterol levels over desirable standards.

The American Heart Association encourages a low-fat diet for all individuals over the age of 2, to help reduce the odds of developing heart disease. Simply put, a low-fat diet is one consisting of no more than 30 percent of its calories from fat, only one-third of which should consist of saturated fat. Cholesterol intake should be limited to no more than 300 milligrams daily.

Emphasis must be placed on nutritional balance with adequate calories to promote growth and development. The basic four food groups remain the best recipe for a balanced meal. Generally, variety is the key. Serve generous servings of grains, breads, pastas, rice and cereals, fruits and vegetables, along with low-fat dairy products, and modest portions of meat, poultry or fish.

Modifying fat intake will help overweight children lose unwanted pounds, but that is not the primary purpose of this recommendation.

A 10-percent to 15-percent reduction in fat in the diet is likely to produce a small, but noticeable, decrease in a child's blood cholesterol level. Best of all, a low-fat diet can start a child on a long life of healthful eating habits. Old habits are difficult to change. For this reason, if for no other, a low-fat diet proves beneficial for all children over the age of 2.

The following recipe makes an excellent low-fat after-school snack which children can assemble and make themselves.

Honey banana shake

- 1/2 cup non-fat dry milk powder
- 1/2 cup ice water
- 4 ice cubes
- 2 tbs. orange juice
- 2 tbs. honey
- 1 ripe banana, peeled, quartered

Put dry milk, ice water, ice cubes, orange juice, honey and banana in blender container. Cover container. Operate blender on high speed until shake is smooth.

Yields 2 servings; 139 calories, .08 gm. fat, 58 mg. sodium and trace cholesterol each.

Beef empanadas

- 2 tbs. oil
- 1 lb. lean ground beef
- 2 tbs. chopped onion
- 2 tbs. chopped green pepper
- 1 cup tomato paste
- 2 tbs. raisins
- 2 tbs. chopped parsley
- 2 tbs. chopped pimiento-stuffed green olives
- 1/2 tsp. oregano leaves
- 1/2 tsp. black pepper
- Pastry
- 1 qt. oil

In skillet, heat 2 tablespoons oil over medium heat. Add beef, onion and green pepper. Cook, stirring, 5 minutes or until beef is no longer pink.

Add tomato paste, raisins, parsley, olives, oregano and pepper. Cook, stirring, 3 minutes or until heated. Set aside.

Prepare Pastry. Roll each ball of pastry between 2 pieces of waxed paper into 6-inch circle. Place about 1 tablespoon beef mixture in center of each circle. Moisten edge. Fold circle in half and seal well.

Four about 1 quart oil in heavy 12-inch skillet to depth of about 1/2 inch, filling no more than one-third full. Heat to 375° over medium heat. Carefully add empanadas, a few at a time. Fry, turning once, 5 to 7 minutes or until golden. Drain on paper towels.

Makes 12.

Pastry: In bowl, stir together 2 cups flour, 1 tablespoon chili powder and 1 teaspoon baking powder. With pastry blender or 2-knives, cut in 1/2 cup margarine. Sprinkle 6 to 7 tablespoons cold water over mixture while tossing to blend well. Divide pastry and shape into 12 balls.

Beat egg yolks until thick. Add to cheese mixture.

Beat egg whites until stiff peaks form. Carefully fold cheese mixture into whites. Pour into prepared dish.

Versatile 20-minute dinner dream come true

It is no secret that today's cooks often have little energy or desire for cooking at the end of a busy day. To circumvent the situation, some resort to spending a significant part of the weekend preparing foods which can be reheated during the week. Others turn to costly carry-outs or restaurant meals.

If weekly schedules and food budgets are tight, dinner still can be economical, on the table in less than 20 minutes and exciting when the menu features fully cooked breast of turkey. It is a timesaver that is versatile for cold suppers, main dish salads or hearty sandwiches.

Turkey is an ideal light menu choice. High in protein, yet low in fat and cholesterol, breast of turkey contains less than 5 percent fat, and provides only 40 calories per ounce.

When it is time to play super-cook but time is at a premium, Turkey Dijon with Wine-Braised Cabbage and Potatoes will be a welcome solution for a family or guest-special dinner.

Mexican food is one of this country's ethnic favorites. Mexican Fiesta Rapida, a spicy but not hot, enchilada dinner, is a shortcut version of the south-of-the-border specialty that can be on the table in less than 20 minutes. As enchiladas heat in a skillet on top of the stove, prepare some easy, authentic accompaniments. Shred lettuce and chop tomatoes for a salad-garnish.

Turkey dijon

- 1 lb. fully cooked breast of turkey, cut in 1/2 inch slices
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1 cup milk
- 1 tsp. salt

- 1/2 cup Dijon or Dusseldorf mustard
- Melt butter in large skillet. Stir in flour. Gradually add milk and dill, stirring constantly until thickened.
- Add turkey. Bring to boil. Turn down heat. Cover. Simmer 10 minutes. Remove turkey to serving platter.
- Stir mustard into skillet. Serve sauce with turkey.
- Makes 4 servings.

Wine-braised cabbage and potatoes

- 1/2 small head cabbage, cut in 4 wedges
- 8 small new potatoes, cut in half
- 1/2 cup dry white wine
- 2 tsp. butter
- 1/2 tsp. chopped fresh parsley
- 1/2 tsp. salt

Combine cabbage, potatoes, wine, butter, parsley and salt in large skillet. Bring to boil. Turn down heat. Cover. Simmer 15 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Makes 4 servings.

Mexican fiesta rapida

- 1 lb. fully cooked breast of turkey
- 8 corn or flour tortillas (6 inch diameter)
- 1 can (15 oz.) tomato sauce
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 pkg. (1 oz.) enchilada sauce mix
- 1/2 cup dairy sour cream
- 5 ripe olives, sliced
- 1 green onion with top, chopped

Cut turkey in thin strips. Divide in 8 portions.

Combine tomato sauce, water and enchilada sauce mix. Pour half the mixture in large skillet. Roll each tortilla around turkey. Place seam-side down in skillet. Pour remaining sauce over tortillas. Bring to boil. Reduce heat. Cover. Simmer 15 minutes.

Top with sour cream, olives and onion to serve. Makes 4 servings.

Spicy flavors perk up a variety of flat meals

Check out the ethnic food section in the supermarket when stymied for meal variety. Take a creole sauce, add one or two cans of some frozen shrimp, then create a "poor-boy" sandwich by layering it into a hollowed loaf of French bread with shredded lettuce, sliced tomato and onion.

Another way to use creole sauce is to combine it with one (12-ounce) package frozen mixed vegetables instead of the shrimp. It can be baked or heated on a stove top.

Old-fashioned apple pie best of homemade 'comfort' foods

As of the first of the year, more than 4 million bushels of apples have been polished and pampered in scientifically regulated storage receptacles as they await use in old-fashioned foods like apple pies, cobbler, apple sauce and tarts.

Apples, especially in the form of apple pie, are among the most popular and requested items on restaurant menus all year long. In fact, Michigan generally produces about half the nation's processed frozen apple pie slices. The term "processed" refers to the conversion of apples into apple foods and apple products, some of which are apple juice, applesauce and canned apple pie filling, all easily made into desserts and snacks with a minimum of fuss.

Canned apple pie filling and apples that are unsweetened and unseasoned can be converted into countless creative apple pie recipes that provide a hearty, healthy dessert choice. These recipes also use readily-available pie crust ingredients for quick comfort.

Apples are a baker's delight because they can be used to create so many different varieties of foods to be enjoyed all year long. Unlike many fruits and produce, carefully stored stores can be eaten out of hand even when local trees are just beginning to bloom.

Newlyweds can enjoy tea from special teapot

A teapot makes a special gift for newlyweds-to-be. The handle should be shaped in a way that keeps fingers from touching sides of pot. Metal teapots should have insulated handles or ones made of non-heat conducting materials like wood.

The lid should have a small protrusion, called a lug, to keep it in place while tea is being poured. The lid's knob should be

- 1 (20 oz.) can apple pie filling
- 1 tsp. ginger
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 tsp. nutmeg
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 2 tsp. flour
- 3 tsp. strong tea
- 1 tsp. lemon juice
- 2 tsp. butter or margarine
- 2 tsp. cream, if desired

Line 9-inch pie pan with half the pastry, prepared according to package instructions. Combine ginger, cinnamon, nutmeg, salt, flour, tea and lemon juice. Alternate layers of apple pie filling and spice mixture until pan is filled, heaping slightly in center. Dot with butter or margarine. Roll out top crust. Cut slits for steam to escape. Place over apples. Trim pastry, pressing edges together with times of fork. Brush with cream. Bake at 425° for 40 to 45 minutes.

Apple banbury tarts

- 1 (20 oz.) can apple pie filling
- 1 cup raisins
- 1/2 cup juice and grated peel of 1 lemon
- 1 egg, beaten
- 2 pkg. pie crust mix (enough for 4 single crusts)

Combine apple pie filling, raisins, lemon juice and rind and egg in bowl. Prepare pie crust mix according to package instructions. Roll out, one-fourth at a time, to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut in 4-inch circles. Place 1 tablespoon apple mixture in each circle. Fold over and press edges together with floured times of fork. Bake at 425° about 20 minutes, or until golden brown. Makes 3 1/2 to 4 dozen tarts.

Apple pastry rolls

- 1 can (20 oz.) pie-sliced apples, drained
- 1 tsp. lemon juice
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 tsp. grated nutmeg
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
- 1/2 cup coconut
- 2 pkg. pie crust mix
- 2 tsp. butter or margarine
- 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten

Cinnamon-sugar (1/2 cup sugar combined with 2 tsp. cinnamon). Combine apples, lemon juice, sugar, nutmeg, cinnamon, salt, coconut and walnuts. Set aside. Prepare pastry according to package directions. Roll 1/4-inch thick on lightly floured surface. Cut in 5-inch squares.

Put 2 tablespoons apple mixture in center of each square. Dot with butter or margarine. Fold one end of pastry square up and over filling. Fold sides up and over. Bring remaining end of pastry up and over.

Place, seam-side down, on baking sheet. Make 3 or 4 slashes in top of each roll. Brush with egg yolk. Sprinkle with cinnamon-sugar.

Bake at 425° about 18 minutes, or until deep golden brown. Makes 12 to 14 rolls.

Add delicious taste treat with honey-butter frosting on cake

For a delicious cake topper, drizzle the top with mixture of honey and butter, or spread cake with jam or preserves, then sprinkle with grated lemon or orange peel.

A broiled frosting adds melt-in-your-mouth flavor. Mix 1/2 cup flaked coconut, 1/2 cup packed brown sugar, 1/4 cup chopped nuts, 3 tablespoons softened margarine or butter and 2 tablespoons half-and-half. Spread over warm cake. Broil about 3 inches from heat until brown.

CCA NEWSLETTER #1

Dear CCAers:

First and foremost, welcome to all our chairpersons, group members and friends of those non-profit organizations participating in Community Club Awards for 1988.

This is KEZK's seventh year presenting CCA and we expect another fun and exciting campaign, as well as a profitable season for all groups and sponsors involved.

Over the next 13 weeks, a newsletter like this one will appear in all the Wednesday Suburban Journals. Read it carefully (there will be Bonus Point opportunities announced), cut it out and turn it in to your group's chairperson. Each newsletter is worth 100 points.

Speaking of points, everyone saving proof-of-purchase for the benefit of a non-profit group should make sure they have a CCA Buyer's Guide. That little booklet (which is a valuable resource) it contains all the information regarding our 1988 sponsors, along with the points and cash available to the organizations.

If you would like a Buyer's Guide either contact your chairperson or call me at the radio station. Our office phone number from Missouri is 727-2160, and from Illinois 618-508-5008. I'll be glad to reach my associate, Jill Bottomey at these same numbers. Please do not hesitate to call us with questions, or if we can help your group out through CCA!

THURSDAY, APRIL 21 marks the first Small Group's tally (April 28 for Large). Jill and I will be at the tally sites RAIN OR SHINE! See page 58 in the Buyer's Guide for locations.

If you have the flexibility in your schedule, you may want to come toward the middle of the tally, because the beginning is sometimes quite busy. Because we are at these sites on Thursday, you will not be able to reach us at the office. At any time, should you call and Jill or I are not in, please leave your name and phone number and we will return your call.

If a chairperson is not sure of the exact location of the tallies (which are all on Schnucks parking lots), simply call us and we will give you directions.

A reminder to all chairpersons: Bonus points are not applicable on those 1987 receipts which are valid for the first turn-in. Bonuses begin on 1988 receipts! Also, if you need a copy of the Suburban Journal ad which appeared in the March 16th editions of the paper, call us and we'll mail it to you.

Any chairperson needing assistance with the tally sheet, don't forget that Jill or I can work through it with you. Now, let's take a look at these important messages from some of those folks who make Community Club Awards possible—our SPONSORS!

ALEXAN BROTHERS: Free hearing Screenings are available at both Alexan's South Broadway and LeMay Ferry Road locations. Ask for your CCA Bonus Slip and earn 2,500 points! Call 618-505-3333 ext. 279 for an appointment.

In the meantime, keep saving from all our CCA Sponsors and check back here in the Wednesday Suburban Journal for another CCA Newsletter!

Enjoy Sunday brunch at home with planning

by Sandra Housmon
Staff affiliate

Spring and Sunday brunch go together. Many people frequent a favorite restaurant for brunch after church, but a little advance preparation and a microwave oven can bring home the brunch crowd.

The day before the brunch, prepare Mock Pink Champagne or cut grapefruit for Coconut-Topped Grapefruit for a first course. Use stemmed glasses for the grapefruit.

Ready-to-Cook Fruit 'N Bran Muffin mix can be prepared as long as two weeks before and kept in the refrigerator until ready to use.

Nuts and coconut can be toasted in a microwave. Coconut is toasted plain, whereas nuts are aided in toasting by melting the butter or margarine first. Sprinkle 1/2 cup coconut in a 9-inch glass pie pan. Microwave at 70 percent (medium-high) power 3 to 4 minutes, stirring after each minute, until golden brown. Let cool. This will keep in an airtight container 1 month.

Coconut-topped grapefruit

2 medium grapefruit
2 tsp. brown sugar, granulated sugar or maple syrup
2 tsp. nutmeg or ginger
2 tsp. toasted coconut

Halve grapefruit crosswise and loosen sections, if desired. If preparing a day before, cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate.

Remove white membranes from centers. Place in microwave-safe serving dishes. In small bowl, combine sugar with nutmeg. Spoon over halves. Sprinkle with coconut. Cook, uncovered, on high power 2 to 4 minutes or until halves are warm.

Makes 4 servings.

Mock pink champagne

1/2 cup sugar
1 cup grapefruit juice
1 cup grenadine syrup
1 cup water
1 cup orange juice
1 (1 liter) bottle ginger ale, chilled
Twists of lemon peel
Maraschino cherries with stems

Combine sugar and water in 1 1/2-quart casserole. Microwave on high 2 to 3 minutes until sugar is dissolved. Cool. Mix with grapefruit juice, orange juice and grenadine syrup. Chill. Recipe can be made this far the day before.

Just before serving, add ginger ale to fruit juices in punch bowl, pouring slowly down side of bowl. Serve over ice in sherbet glasses. Trim each glass with lemon peel and a cherry.

Ready-to-cook fruit 'n bran muffins

1 cup water
1/2 cups whole bran cereal
1 cup shortening
1 cup buttermilk or sour milk
1 beaten egg
1 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 cup honey
1 1/2 cups flour
2 1/2 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. salt
1 cup mixed dried fruit bits or raisins
Streusel Topping

Cook water on high power 1 1/2 to 2 minutes or until boiling. In mixing bowl, combine water, bran and shortening. Add buttermilk, eggs, brown sugar and honey. Mix well.

Combine flour, baking powder, cinnamon, baking soda and salt. Add to bran mixture. Stir just until moistened. Fold in fruit.

Refrigerate in airtight container up to 2 weeks.

Streusel Topping: Mix together 1/2 cup brown sugar and 1/2 cup spoon cinnamon. Stir in 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine. Makes enough to top 24 muffins.

To bake: Line microwave-safe muffin pan with paper baking cups. For each muffin, spoon 2 slightly rounded tablespoons batter in paper cups. Sprinkle 1 teaspoon Streusel topping over each muffin.

Cook, uncovered, on high: 1 muffin, 30 to 60 seconds; 2 muffins, 1 to 2 minutes; 4 muffins, 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 minutes; 6 muffins, 2 to 3 1/2 minutes. Remove from pan and let stand 5 minutes. Serve warm.

Makes 24 muffins.

Anything goes scrambled eggs

4 oz. bulk pork sausage or ground beef
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped broccoli or whole kernel corn, cooked and drained, or frozen pea pods, thawed and halved
6 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1 tsp. dried oregano, basil or thyme, crushed

1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. pepper
1 medium tomato, sliced

Note: Mix and match meat, vegetables and seasonings as desired.

In 9-inch glass pie plate, crumble sausage or beef, then add onion. Cover with waxed paper. Cook on high power 2 to 4 minutes or until no pink remains in meat, stirring once.

Drain off fat. Stir in vegetable. Cook, covered, 1 to 2 minutes or until vegetable is hot.

In medium mixing bowl, combine eggs, milk, oregano, salt and pepper. Beat with fork until yolks and whites are well mixed. Pour egg mixture over meat mixture. Cook, uncovered, on high 1 1/2 minutes.

Stir, pushing cooked portions to center. Continue cooking 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 minutes until eggs are almost set, stirring every 30 seconds.

Let stand 5 minutes. Serve over tomato slices.

Baseball

also been a hot hitter in recent games. "I just hope it wasn't for today. But I think it can continue. Ryan will be in the lineup. It's just a matter of where he plays and it will be shortstop if Nolan can do the job at second." The Warriors had 10 hits — all singles — and took advantage of eight errors, seven walks and a hit batsman to get 12 runs. And Black was again sharp on the mound.

Softball

reached second on a wild pitch. Katie Hill struck out on a ball in the dirt, but hesitated before breaking for first base. Edwardsville catcher Jamie Stack caught Hill before she could run and tagged her out. Meanwhile, Bequette has also hesitated in breaking for third. After a second's thought, Bequette decided to break for third. Stack recovered quickly and threw out the hard-sliding Bequette and the scoring threat was extinguished.

"Jamie Stack played well for us," said Edwardsville coach Kay Hyten. "She made a real heads up play in the fourth inning. She's getting the chance to play and she's doing a fine job. It was also Lori Kovarik's best pitching outing of the year. Lori had good control except for one stretch, but she stayed with herself and finished well. We stuck with it today and obviously we played well."

Their pitcher deserved to win today," concurred Davis. "She got the ball over the plate and we just couldn't hit it."

The bottom of the fourth inning all but did in the Lady Warriors. With runners on first and third and nobody out, Edwardsville tried a delayed double steal. Bequette decided to throw through to second base and with her strong throw might have had the runner, but shortstop Kim Pawlak caught the throw and fired back home to try and nail the late-breaking Tiger runner. Pawlak's effort to halt any further scoring backfired when the throw arrived late and both runners were safe. Edwardsville proceeded to sandwich a run-scoring single in between two fly outs to center-fielder Carrie Bohnerstiel. But then Jill Smith, who finished the day with three hits, smashed a triple into the gap, scoring another runner and the Tigers had a 9-0 lead.

In the fifth inning, Edwardsville, which needed only one run to win by the 10-run rule, received a gift from Granite City. Hill bobbled a groundball fly into the gap, allowing the runner to reach second. But it looked as if the Warriors might escape the inning when Bohnerstiel made a fine running catch on a short fly into the gap. With two outs, LeVault delivered a pitch to Michelle Hays and the Indian outfielder smacked the ball over the left fielder's head for the final two runs of the game.

The Tigers raised their record to 1-2.

He'll be in the rotation and could be the No. 3 man (behind Krausz and John Moad).
The Cornets scored first in the third thanks to Black's throwing error and a wild pitch. Burton ended the inning with a good catch and tag at first base, but it was originally feared he had broken his nose in a collision with the baserunner, Shon Davis. Burton stayed in the game despite his altered features.

"It was crooked before that anyway," Burton said.
Burton wasn't the only first baseman to take a beating. John Moad led off the fourth inning by getting plunked in the right elbow by starting pitcher Derek Blumhagen. The pitch caught Moad right in the funny-bone but he wasn't laughing. It was numb for a while but he stayed in the game.

Hampsey singled, then Moad and Hampsey pulled off a double steal and Moad scored on a throw. Ryan then drove in what proved to be the game-winning run with a two-out single. Ryan scored on an error by Davis on Matt Rogers' bunt, then Chris Bartling scored on a wild pitch. Granite City added six runs in the fifth on only three hits. Nolan, Craig Dippe, Hampsey, Kurt Hodges and Burton all had RBIs in the inning. Nolan drove in another run in the seventh and scored on Moad's hit.

All that was left was a pinch-hitting experience for Begando. The lefty has been known for a year now as "Beaumont" because he struck out in the Warriors' 30-2 win over that school in last year's tournament. Begando got a chance to redeem himself the seventh inning against McCluer, but struck out on three pitches again.

He will now be known as "McBeau."
"This tournament just wasn't made for McBeau's hitting talents," Stegemeier said with a laugh.

Discover pleasure of vines

By Robert J. Dingwall
Staff affiliate

Creative use of vines lends a distinctive touch to the landscape while meeting a variety of needs. Vines may be used to screen an area for privacy, screen sunlight from a patio for a cooling effect, and to give quick color.

Vines are inexpensive and are grown from young plants or seed. They do well on posts, fences, walls, arbors and trellises. Planting may be done as soon as frost is no longer a threat.

Fast-growing perennial types will reach a height of 5 to 8 feet the first year while annuals will grow to 15 feet or more early in the season. Because perennial vines will be part of the landscape for years, they should be selected and planted with care.

Organic matter and a light application of superphosphate should be incorporated thoroughly into the soil before planting. The area should be well drained so plants do not sit in water, which could lead to root rotting.

When setting out new plants, which around each to control soil moisture and temperature. Avoid using high-nitrogen fertilizer, which encourages fast growth but delays flowering.

Most vines prefer full sun but a few do well in shade or on the north side of buildings. When shopping, be sure to learn the requirements of the types that you are considering.

Climbing Hydrangea (Hydrangea petiolaris), one of the shade-loving perennials, produces beautiful, white flower clusters in late May or early June. Available in 1- or 2-gallon containers from some garden centers, the plant does well in an average soil and requires a trellis or wire frame to grow on. The plant, which can grow to 20 feet tall, requires some pruning immediately after flowering to control height and width.

Dutchman's Pipe (Aristolochia durior) has dense foliage that creates a cooling effect. The large, heart-shaped leaves are a rich, glossy green, and the oddly shaped blooms resemble a miniature Dutch pipe.

A vigorous grower, it is ideal for the outside of a porch or for an arbor, reaching a height up to 20 feet.

Clematis comes in a rainbow of colors. Some types flower only in early summer while others flower heavily from late May through September. Blooms can be up to 9 inches across. Train on an arbor, post, fence or on a trellis on a wall.

Clematis prefers a rich soil that is loose and well-drained. Plants like to have their roots in shade, but need full sun for best flowering. To meet both requirements, annuals could be growing around the base or a good mulch may be applied to keep roots shaded.

The Sweet Autumn Clematis can reach a height of 30 feet very quickly and may become too rampant if not controlled. It is best cut back heavily each spring. It flowers in late September and October and is deliciously scented.

Fast-growing annual vines that are ideal to use for screening include the morning glories, which quickly reach a height of 15 feet. They grow in average soil and like full sun.

Morning glories always are started from seed. To speed germination, soak seed in warm water for 24 hours before sowing outdoors. Seed may be secured in separate or mixed colors.

The Moon Vine (Calonyction aculeatum) is a spectacular, pure-white flowering vine. Blooms open late in the afternoon and close early in the morning. As with morning glories, soak seed in warm water before sowing outdoors.
